

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Name of subject	Field of study	Form of classes	ECTS points	Short summary
Family Pedagogy (S&N)	Pedagogy	Lecture Auditorium classes	1 2	The course analyse and reflect on the complexity of the condition of families in the contemporary context and to find pedagogical perspectives and educational support.
Practical German Studies - Integrated Skills (S&N)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 -12 Sem 3 – 6 (N) Sem 3 – 5 (S)	The main aim of the course is to master the German language by students at the C1 CEFR level of fluency; acquisition and improvement of linguistic communication skills; education and development of listening and reading comprehension, speaking and writing skills.
Practical German Studies – Speaking (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 3 – 2 Sem 5 – 1,5	Practical German studies: Oral expression I, II semesters: Acquiring the ability to construct short oral statements relating to typical communication situations from everyday life. III, IV semesters: Expanding vocabulary range and various verbal forms during the dialogues and different kinds of work in small groups. Practicing the use of language in various situations of oral communication (official situation or playful one). Exposé with links between its different parts. V, VI semesters: Discussions with specific types of verbal activity, on subjects selected by participants. Developing topics according to different types of plans. Expanding vocabulary range and using various verbal forms during dialogues and different kinds of work in small groups. Practising the use of language in oral communication on current topics, combined with self-observation. Self-evaluation. Developing various topics in different structured stylistic approaches.

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Literature of German-speaking Countries (S&N)	Philology	Lecture Auditorium class	1 1(S) 2(N)	The course is aimed at familiarizing students with advanced knowledge about the history of German literature, narrowed to chosen literary epochs and their most famous literary works.
German - Analysis of Functional Documents (S)	Philology	Practical class	2	Analysis of administrative and commercial documents in German. Improving the knowledge of administrative and commercial documents (text, layout, specific vocabulary, typical sentence structures). Developing analytical skills. Becoming familiar with certificates in German for specific purposes.
German Correspondence in an Enterprise (S)	Philology	Practical class	2	The course is aimed at helping students learn vocabulary concerning basic knowledge of business correspondence (e.g. how to submit, accept and reject an offer; how to place an order for something; making reservations)
German: Oral Communication in Business (N)	Philology	Practical class	2	The course aims at developing student's skills of creating and understanding texts typical of oral communication in business situations as well as training interactional language activities.
German in an Enterprise (N)	Philology	Practical class	2	To acquaint students with the vocabulary related to the functioning of the enterprise. Reading the texts also provides a basic understanding of functioning of the enterprise and provides patterns of interpersonal communication in the company.
Background	Philology	Practical class	2	The course is aimed at familiarizing students with the

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Knowledge of German speaking-countries (S)				diversification of the German language countries. In particular, it includes information about geographical, social, political, economical, historical, religious and linguistic issues that concern Germany, Austria and Switzerland.
Practical French Studies – Speaking (S&N)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 2,5 (N) Sem 3 – 2 (S) Sem 5 – 2 (N) Sem 5 – 1,5 (S)	Practical French studies: Conversation I,II semesters: Acquiring the ability to construct short oral statements relating to typical communication situations from everyday life. III,IV semesters: Expanding vocabulary range and various verbal forms during the dialogues and different kinds of work in small groups. Practicing the use of language in various situations of oral communication (official situation or playful one). Exposé with links between its different parts. V,VI semesters: Discussions with specific types of verbal activity, on subjects selected by participants. Developing topics according to different types of plans. Expanding vocabulary range and using various verbal forms during dialogues and different kinds of work in small groups. Practising the use of language in oral communication on current topics, combined with self-observation. Self-evaluation. Developing various topics in different structured stylistic approaches.
Background Knowledge of French-speaking Countries (S)	Philology	Auditorium class	2	The aim of the course is to introduce students to the history, geography, politics and culture of selected French-speaking countries and also to familiarize students with various aspects of French culture : geography, France overseas, climate, landscapes and population. Administrative division. Political and social life in France. Description of selected regions of France, gastronomy, customs and traditions.

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Descriptive Grammar of French (S&N)	Philology	Lecture Practical class	1 2	Detailed information regarding parts of speech and parts of the sentence. Construction of a simple sentence (derivation tree). Sentence clause structure; types of subordinate clauses. Subjunctive mood. The course is a complement to the practical grammar classes. Morphological and syntactic analysis are also meant to improve reading comprehension and the correct forming of sentences.
History of English-speaking Countries (S)	Philology	Lecture	Sem 1 – 1 Sem 3 – 1	The course is meant to present significant historical events of the English-speaking peoples, in reference to Great Britain and the USA in particular, (including selected historical issues pertaining to Ireland, Canada, Australia and New Zealand), their setting in time, socio-political context, the genesis, development and consequences for political and social life and culture of the English speaking countries, important concepts and terms related to the history of these countries, dates and place names associated with a specific historical context, names and achievements of historical figures associated with the history of these English-speaking countries and their impact on the history of the world.
Practical English Studies - Reading Comprehension (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 2 Sem 5 – 3	The course aims at developing advanced reading skills. Reading classes, based on various materials, focus on analysing and discussing texts as well as improving vocabulary.
Practical English	Philology	Practical class	1,5	The course aims at introducing the rules of British

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Studies – Phonetics (S)				pronunciation and the principles of formation sounds in English
Practical English Studies - Practical Grammar (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 3 Sem 3 – 2	The course focuses on practising grammar structures.
Practical English Studies – Vocabulary (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 1,5 Sem 3 – 1	The course is intended for students to work on their language fluency and efficiency to reach level B2+
Practical English Studies - Listening Comprehension (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 1	The course aims at developing listening skills.
Practical English Studies - Integrated Skills (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 2	The course aims at introducing and practising English vocabulary to achieve level B2 in writing and speaking.
Practical English Studies – Writing (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 1,5	The course aims at developing writing skills (Cambridge First Certificate (B2) level) of short writing forms B2 level - year 1; B2/C1 - year 2
Practical English Studies – Speaking (S)	Philology	Practical class	Sem 1 – 2 Sem 3 – 1,5	The course focuses on developing and practising students' speaking skills as well as extending their vocabulary
Practical English Studies (S)	Philology	Practical class		The Practical English course - 270 hours in semester 1 and 240 hours in semester 2. The course aims at developing advanced language skills and communicative competence for level B1 and B2 of Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

				The Practical English course - 180 hours in semester 3 and 180 hours in semester 4. The course aims at developing advanced language skills and communicative competence for B2 and raising the level of fluency and efficiency to level C1 of Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. The Practical English course - 90 hours in semester 5 and 90 hours in semester 6. The course aims at developing advanced language skills and communicative competence for C1 and raising the level of fluency and efficiency to level C2 of Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.
Background Knowledge of English-speaking Countries (S)	Philology	Lecture Auditorium class	2 2	In Semester 1, the course presents a survey of basic aspects of life in the United Kingdom, with special emphasis on the country's multicultural character. In Semester 2, the course focuses on life in the United States of America, covering a range of its main aspects. Section meetings, which complement the lectures in each semester, facilitate better comprehension of issues covered during the lectures through presentations and a more detailed in-class discussion.
Text Editing (Word) (S)	Philology	IT Laboratory	3	The course focuses on the introduction and practice of the options of Word, advanced text edition and basics of typography.
Desktop Publishing (Adobe)	Philology	IT Laboratory	3	The aim of the course is to prepare the students to typeset texts and prepare it for printing. The course is

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

InDesign) (S)				based on Adobe InDesign programme and the students learn how to make use of the programme and the tools and options to typeset texts.
Desktop Publishing with Graphics (Adobe Photoshop) (S)	Philosophy	IT Laboratory	1	Introduction of Photoshop as a programme essential for creating and processing illustrations and graphics
Literature of English-speaking Countries (S)	Philosophy	Lecture Auditorium class	1 1	Semester 2 and 3 present a brief survey of selected directions in the development of the English literary canon, from its beginnings until the present times. Semesters 4 and 5 present the historical development of American literature from Puritan historiography to contemporary writing. Section meetings which complement the lecture enable a more detailed in-class discussion of selected texts, resulting in better comprehension.
Practical English Studies - Improving Communication Skills (S)	Philology	Practical class	5	Classes aimed at developing oral and written communicative skills focus on improving vocabulary and grammar and thus raising the level of fluency and efficiency in both written and oral forms of presentation.
Contemporary Varieties of the English Language (S)	Philology	Lecture Practical class	2 1	Lectures are focused on the development and growth of English in the 20. and 21. centuries, its contemporary varieties, and British and American English in particular. Classes concentrate on the analysis of selected examples of regional and social dialects, jargons, slangs, and other varieties of English.
English - Written and Oral	Philology	Practical class	2	The course aims at developing student's oral and written communication skills in business situations. During

Faculty of Humanities – winter semester

Communication (S)				classes a student is involved in language simulations, discussions, problem solving. He / She is also expected to prepare a presentation of a product and company, as well as becomes familiar with most common types of functional texts.
English in an Enterprise (S)	Philology	Practical class	2	The course aims at developing students' language skills for professional purposes. The emphasis is put on practical language practice. At the end of the course a student is expected to understand English and communicate in working environment using the English language at B1 - B2 level.